Screening and identification of behavioral health conditions in primary and women's health care webinar

Increase your knowledge base to help our Amerigroup Iowa, Inc. members. Learn how to screen for behavioral health conditions in primary care and how to appropriately treat and refer to a behavioral health specialist. If your office has behavioral health specialists conducting behavioral health screenings for your patients, they are eligible to attend the webinar. Additional specialties who may attend include: Nurse practitioners, licensed professional counselors, clinical nurse specialists, licensed clinical social workers and licensed marriage and family therapists. Continuing education credit will ONLY be awarded to physicians, but certificates of participation will be provided to others.
