

Traumatic brain injury and transitional living skills

Summary of change: During the 2014 traumatic brain injury (TBI) waiver renewal, the Kansas Department for Aging and Disability Services (KDADS) was directed by CMS to remove the mandatory requirement for utilization of transitional living skills (TLS) services for TBI waiver members. TLS services may be authorized for the member if there is an assessed need in accordance with service limitations but is no longer a requirement for TBI services.

✦ What this means to you: Transitional living skills (H2014) is no longer mandated as part of the TBI waiver program.
